SUBJECT: AB 248 (HERNANDEZ)—HEALTH INSURANCE: MINIMUM VALUE:
LARGE GROUP MARKET POLICIES – OPPOSE
SENATE THIRD READING

The California Association of Health Underwriters (CAHU), the Independent Insurance Agents and Brokers of California (IIABCal), the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors of California (NAIFA California), and the California Association of Small Employer Health Plans (CASEHP) regret that we must OPPOSE AB 248 (Hernandez), as amended June 29, 2015, that would unnecessarily bar employers from combining health care insurance products to create a health benefit package for their workers unless the core plan meets at least 60 percent minimum value requirements of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA).

AB 248 would prohibit insurers from selling and large employers with 50 or more employees from purchasing health coverage that does not meet at least the 60 percent minimum value cost of medical services. It needs to be noted that Governor Brown vetoed similar legislation last session. We have spoken with the author and sponsor to try and find a path that all could agree to follow on this issue, but were unsuccessful with the core problem of the bill: limiting affordable options for large employers wishing to provide health insurance coverage to their employees.

Providing health care is expensive. Medical costs continue to increase. Nothing yet enacted seems to drive down the cost of providing health care benefits to employees. Our organizations believe that AB 248 would make providing health care even more expensive for large employers by insisting the employer-plan hit 60 percent minimum value before other products can be added. AB 248 would also negatively impact employers with multi-state operations as they would have to have a different health plan for one state versus all 49 other states.

Today, large employers (those with over 50 full-time or full-time equivalent workers) may face ACA tax penalties of up to $3000 per worker if their plan does not offer employees “affordable” coverage with an actuarial value of 60%, meaning the employee does not have to pay more than 40% of the costs of benefits under the plan. This cost calculation focuses on four core benefits including physician care; hospital and emergency room care; pharmacy benefits; and lab/imaging services.

However, it is important to note that nothing in the ACA dictates just how a large employer may construct their health benefit package in order to reach the 60 percent minimum value. There are a number of health care products of varying types that can be placed together to create a health care package that meets the minimum value requirements of the ACA. AB 248 inappropriately attempts to stop large employers from using legally permissible building blocks of coverage because the first building block is not a 60 percent minimum value (bronze) plan. CAHU, NAIFA, IIABCal and CASEHP all believe that the policymakers should not put up unnecessary barriers to large employers doing their best to provide affordable care to their employees.
